Countryside Agency (Functioned from 1 April 1999 until 1 October 2006. Prior to 1999 it was also known as the Countryside Commission)	The Countryside Agency was a government-funded advisory and promotional body in England. It owned no land and managed no facilities. The Countryside Agency worked with other bodies, such as local authorities, landowners and other public agencies, to provide grants and advice to conserve the natural beauty of the landscape, promote rural economies and make the countryside more accessible for public enjoyment. The Countryside Agency was succeeded on 2 October 2006 by Natural England and the Commission for Rural Communities.
Decent Home	Communities and Local Government standard which states that a home must be warm, weatherproof and have reasonably modern facilities in order to be classed as 'decent'.
Design Code	A set of illustrated design rules and requirements which instruct and may advise on the physical development of a site or area. The graphic and written components of the code are detailed and precise, and build upon a design vision such as a masterplan or other design and development framework for a site or area.
Development Plan Documents (DPDs)	Prepared by local planning authorities, they outline the key development goals of the Local Development Framework. All DPDs must be subject to rigorous procedures of community involvement, consultation and independent examination, and adopted after receipt of the inspector's binding report. Once adopted, development control decisions must be made in accordance with them unless material considerations indicate otherwise.
Eco-towns	Exemplar "green developments". They will meet the highest standards of sustainability, including low and zero carbon technologies and quality public transport systems. They will make use of brownfield land and surplus public sector land where practical and lead the way in design, facilities and services, and community involvement.
EcoHomes	An environmental assessment method for homes developed by the Building Research

environmental assessment	Establishment (BRE). EcoHomes considers the broad environmental concerns of climate change, resource use and impact on wildlife and balances these against the needs for a high quality, safe and healthy internal environment. The Code for Sustainable Homes was introduced in England in April 2007 and sets minimum standards for energy and water use at each level and, within England. It replaces the EcoHomes scheme. Rural Community Council	Sometimes called Community Action, or Voluntary Action. These are countywide organisations that support sustainable rural community development and improve the quality of life for rural communities and are part funded through Defra.
Rural Definition	The rural definition is an 8 way split, identifying rural towns, villages and hamlets in both sparse and less sparse areas, and urban settlements. In order to be able to apply the rural definition, data must be available at Census Output Area or Super Output Area (SOA), ward or postcode levels. Where data are not available at these lower levels of geography, but are available at local authority district level, then the rural / urban local authority classification can be applied. The rural classification is a 6 way split, which categorises all local authority districts. Rural-80 and Rural-50 together represent the predominantly rural areas. Read more at: http://www.defra.gov.uk/rural/ruralstats/rural-definition.htm
Rural Delivery Pathfinders	The rural Pathfinders were announced as part of the Government's Rural Strategy and form a significant element of Defra's move to develop a more devolved and modernised approach to rural delivery. Working closely with our local partners, the Pathfinders will help pilot innovative new approaches to delivering rural policy and tackling social exclusion - addressing social, economic and environmental issues. They will investigate how to improve co-ordination of rural delivery at local level, how to get more value out of the wide range of funding streams available, and how to bring strong local leadership to bear in tackling rural disadvantage. Two have a focus on housing. Read more at: http://www.defra.gov.uk/rural/ruraldelivery/pathfinders/default.htm

Rural Exception policy	This is a special provision which applies only in rural settlements (but regardless of size) where planning permission would not otherwise be given for new housing development.
Rural Excellence Programme	A mentoring programme run by the Improvement and Development Agency (IDeA) and funded by Government to help rural local authorities share good practice and develop approaches that improve the delivery of services and affordable housing in rural areas. The housing programme runs between 2006/07 and 2007/08 and aims to strengthen the strategic housing role of councils and in particular their ability to ensure the delivery of affordable housing for their residents. Rural Social and Community Programme	Launched in April 2006 and runs to March 2008. The programme aims to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>To enhance the community capacity building capability of rural communities so that those communities can work together to shape their own future.</li> <li>To help socially excluded individuals in rural communities improve their life chances.</li> <li>To develop the capacity of the voluntary and community sector, and of the town and parish council sector, to reinforce the delivery of the first two aims.</li> </ul> The largest part of the programme (£9m/year ) is funding for sub-regional activities, designed and delivered by partnerships of organisations involved in supporting rural communities, including voluntary and community sector organisations. Sub-regional activities include a number of Rural

	Housing Enabler posts for which Defra had a contractual commitment beyond March 2006 and also Rural Housing Enabler posts in areas where the sub-regional partnership decided that these posts were a priority. Read more at: http://www.defra.gov.uk/rural/communities/funding-opportunities.htm"
Section 106 agreement	Planning obligations are currently negotiated in the context of a planning application between a local authority and persons with an interest in land. Section 106 agreements are legal agreements between a planning authority and a developer, or undertakings offered unilaterally by a developer, that ensure that certain extra works related to a development are undertaken. In relation to affordable housing planning obligations can be used to prescribe the nature of a development by requiring the inclusion of a given proportion of affordable housing. See also Planning Gain Supplement.
Shared equity	A means of helping people into home ownership. The buyer purchases a share of their home, with the remaining share being held by another party, for example a housing association. When the homeowner comes to sell the home, the other party would be entitled to some of the proceeds of the sale. Many shared equity homes are intermediate housing provided in part through social housing grant.
Social rented housing	Affordable housing provided for rent at or close to rents below market levels to eligible groups on housing waiting lists. Provided and managed by local authorities, Registered Social Landlords or other bodies.
Strategic Housing Market Assessment	Practice guidance issued by Communities and Local Government, along with Planning Policy Statement 3, which sets out a framework that local authorities and regional bodies can follow to develop a good understanding of how housing markets operate. The practice guidance issued to regional authorities and Local Planning Authorities can be read at: http://www.communities.gov.uk/publications/planningandbuilding/strategichousingmarket
Sustainability Appraisals	To promote sustainable development through the integration of social, environmental and economic considerations into the preparation of revisions of Regional Spatial Strategies (RSS) and for new or revised Development Plan Documents (DPD) and Supplementary Planning Documents (SPD). Sustainable	The then Office of the Deputy Prime Minister (now Communities and Local Government) plan

Communities Plan	launched in 2003 setting out a long-term programme of action for delivering sustainable communities in both urban and rural areas. It aimed to tackle supply issues in the South East, low demand in other parts of the country, bring all social housing up to the Decent Homes standard, protect the countryside and improve the quality of urban spaces. Supporting People	A grant programme in England and Wales which enables the provision of housing related support services to help vulnerable people maintain or improve their ability to live independently. The type of provision offered includes housing management, housing related support (such as independent living skills), home care, meals services and personal care. It was a new single grant programme to rationalise existing funding streams. Read more at: http://www.spkweb.org.uk/
Sustainable development	Development which meets the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their own needs. Read more at: http://www.sustainable-development.gov.uk/
Tenure	The nature of the structure by which people own or rent their home. Categories are usually broken down as follows: Owner Occupied, Private Rented, Registered Social Landlord or Council Rented.
UK REITs	Real Estate Investment Trusts in the UK (UK-REITs) aim to improve the efficiency of both the commercial and residential property investment markets. The introduction of UK-REIT legislation provides the basis for liquid and publicly available property investment vehicles available to a wide range of investors, contributing to the Government's wider objectives for raising productivity in the commercial property sector. As recommended by Kate Barker in her independent review of housing supply, UK-REITs will also encourage increased institutional and professional investment to support the private rented sector.
Village envelope	Boundaries on a map, usually set out in the local development plan, beyond which the local planning authority proposes that a village should not be allowed to extend.
Windfall sites	Local Planning Authorities may also have a policy requiring the provision of affordable housing on 'windfall sites' that are not allocated in the Local Development Document but which come forward due to a change in circumstances
Zero Carbon Homes	Over a year, the net carbon emissions from all energy use in the home are zero. This includes energy use from cooking, washing and electronic entertainment appliances as well as space heating, cooling, ventilation, lighting and hot water.
